

Quiz 2

1. The nurse enters the patient's vital signs and assessment into the electronic health record at the nurse's station. Which of the following systems does this describe? C. Clinical documentation system
2. In scheduling a nurse for tomorrow morning's shift, the staffing office contacts the charge nurse to find out staffing needs. In responding to the office, which system should the charge nurse review? D. The acuity system
3. "An elderly patient is seeing their physician for the first time using video conferencing software on their personal computer. The client struggles to use the internet. Which term best describes this problem?" C. Low technology literacy
4. The medication cabinet now uses a biometric reader that uses facial identification for entry. The nurse working in the COVID unit is unable to use the identifier because of the requirement to always wear a mask and face shield. Which term is used to describe this issue? C. Unintended consequence
5. "The informatics nurse is assisting with the installation of a new clinical documentation system at the hospital. To ensure test results are accessible, which of the following system(s) will need interoperability? Select all that apply."
A. The laboratory system D. The radiology system
6. "A nurse submits an incident report stating he is experiencing a lot of neck pain. He feels this may be related to the laptop he is using at work. What is the best option for the informatics nurse to proceed?"
B. Complete an ergonomic evaluation of him using the computer.
7. A new ventilator is being evaluated by the informatics nurse. When the ventilator is disconnected from the client, the vendor intentionally reduced the alarm volume so it would not startle the healthcare professionals. Which statement is most accurate about this human technology interface component?" D. The vendor should consider making this alarm loud and uncomfortable with a temporary mute feature.
8. The informatics nurse is setting up a new instant messaging system for the unit. Which of the following statements by the nurse indicates that more information is needed?" B. "It's easy to use; no training will be needed."