

... NR452 Maternal/Newborn

When performing nursing care for a neonate after birth, which intervention has the highest nursing priority? 1. Obtain blood for glucose check. 2. Give newborn bath. 3. Give vitamin K injection. 4. Cover newborn's head with a hat.	First choice: Answer:
Rationale:
When performing a newborn assessment, the nurse should measure the vital signs in which of the following sequences? 1. Respirations, pulse, temperature 2. Respirations, temperature, pulse 3. Temperature, pulse, respirations 4. Pulse, respirations, temperature	First choice: Answer:
Rationale:
A nurse in the newborn nursery is monitoring a Small for Gestational Age newborn. Which assessment findings would alert the nurse? 1. Jitteriness and a temp of 97.1F 2. Newborn has a hat on 3. Respirations of 40 BPM 4. Acrocyanosis	First choice: Answer:
Rationale:	