

iHuman Case Study: Dermatology Assessment

10:04 AM

Kecia Young

2yo F 2'10" 28lb/12.7kg

A&Ox4

T37; P75 RRR; 90/60L; 95/60R; RR22 unlabored; SpO2 94%

6mo ago visit: well child check - 13-18 month milestones

Reason for Encounter: Rash

Rash spread fast this morning

History: HPI

PMH:

- Past Medical History: none
- Childhood illnesses: none
- Surgeries/Procedures: full term at 38 weeks GA, born via NSVD. No complications during delivery or after birth
- Hospitalizations: none
- Preventative Health: Has been meeting all developmental milestones. Growing and developing well as of last well child check 6 months ago
- Current Meds/OTC/Alternative: None
- Allergies: NKDA
- Immunizations: Birth: Hep B 2 months: DTaP, IPV, HIB, PCV13, Rotavirus, Hep B 4 months: DTaP, IPV, HIB, PCV13, Rotavirus, 6 months: DTaP, IPV, HIB, PCV13, Rotavirus, Hep B, & In uenza 1st dose 7 months: In uenza 2nd dose 12 months: MMR, Varicella, Hep A 1st dose 15 months: DTaP, HIB, PCV13 18 months: Hep A 2nd dose

Social:

- Habits:
- Diet:
- Sleep:
- Home/Safety/Environment:
- Healthcare:
- Sexuality:

Family History:

- Mother, 32, healthy
- Father, 35, healthy

History: ROS

- General: no fever; A&Ox4, active
- Skin/Hair/Nails: rash with sudden onset this morning on abdomen that spread to extremities; no other complaints
- HEENT/Neck: recent hx runny nose; no eye or ear discharge. No conjunctivitis; no recent head trauma
- Cardiovascular: no history of murmur, palpitations, ShOB, fainting