Texas or federal government

WHO CONTROLS VACCINES?

There are several schools of thought about vaccines. Whether you believe in the science or not, they have been mandated by the government. the right to refuse vaccines is protected by the consitution and we will explore which bill protects it.

- The states regulate the distribution and exemptions of vaccines for children and adults.
- “States have been responsible for public health since 1791, when the Constitution’s 10th amendment granted states any powers not specifically assigned to the federal government. Today, states run vaccination programs, provide health care for the poor, supervise water and food safety, provide health education and emergency preparedness, and more.” (Silberner, 2024)
- The law does not specifically state that the federal governme nt desires to create legislature to regulate vaccines.

References

Heersema, L. A., Cunniff, L., Eiden, A. L., Sharma, I., Mishra, J., & Bhatti, A. (2023). Intersection of policy and Immunization Information Systems (IIS). BMC Public Health, 23, 1-11. https://doi.org/10.1186/s12889-023-16457-2

Silberner, J. (2024). Who Controls U.S. Public Health—the Feds or the States? Global Health NOW. https://globalhealthnow.org/2024-12/who-